2003	Design and Conduct of Randomized Trials Involving Behavioral Interventions, NIH Office of Behavioral and Social Science Research

ACADEMIC POSITIONS

2010 – present	Professor with Tenure, Department of Health Promotion and Community Health Sciences, Texas A&M School of Public Health, College Station, TX
2018 – present	Affiliate Professor, Nutritional Sciences Program, Department of Health Systems and Population Health, University of Washington School of Public Health, Seattle, WA
2018 – present	Adjunct Faculty, Department of Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine, Washington State University, Spokane, WA
2021-2023	Adjunct Graduate Faculty, School of Family and Consumer Sciences, Texas State University, San Marcos, TX
2006 – 2010	Associate Professor with Tenure, Department of Social and Behavioral Health, School of Rural Public Health, Texas A&M Health Science Center, College Station, TX
2003 – present	Graduate Faculty of Nutrition, Department of Nutrition and Food Science, Texas A&M University, College Station, TX
2002 – 2006	Assistant Professor, Department of Social and Behavioral Health, School of Rural Public Health, Texas A&M Health Science Center, College Station, TX

HONORS, AWARDS, AND PROFESSIONAL APPOINTMENTS

2017	Research Fellow, Texas Hunger Initiative, Baylor University
2016	Excellence in Faculty Leadership Award, Hispanic/Latino Graduate Student Association, for his work and support of the Hispanic/Latino Community
2011	Hispanic Heritage Amigo Award, Hispanic Presidents' Council at Texas A&M University, for significant contributions to the Latino community
2010	Award for Excellence in Research, School of Rural Public Health, Texas A&M Health Science Center
2008	National Poverty Center and Economic Research Service (NPC/ERS) Award for Understanding the Economic Concepts and Characteristics of Food Access
2006	MALRC Fellow, Mexican American and U.S. Latino Research Center, Texas A&M University
2003	Betty J. Cleckley Minority Issues Research Award, awarded by the Gerontological Health Section, American Public Health Association

2002	Fellow Carolina Program in Healthcare and Aging Research, Institute on Aging, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
2000	Office of Rural Health Policy Award for Excellence in Research on Aging and Rural Health, awarded by the Gerontological Health Section, American Public Health Association
2000	Gordon H. DeFriese Career Development in Aging Research, awarded by the Institute on Aging, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
1998	Delta Omega Honorary Society in Public Health

RESEARCH INTERESTS

- Collaborative research, education, and outreach focusing on improving nutritional, physical, and emotional health across the life span among underserved and rural populations.
- Community empowerment and engagement through traditional and non-traditional collaborations for improving population health.
- Improving the response of food systems in rural and underserved areas to reducing the risk for food insecurity and hunger among children, adults, and seniors
- Developing, implementing, and evaluating culturally responsive approaches to establish and maintain healthy lifestyles.
- Mixed research methods, including qualitative (e.g., focus groups, in-depth interviews) and quantitative (e.g., survey design and web-based application) methods, study design, and analytical approaches.

CURRENT FUNDING

- Food Security LEADers (Learning communities and Experiential learning Advancing Dietetics and Nutrition) (LEADers)

Period: 9/01/21-8/31/25

Funder: USDA NIFA

Award Amount: $274,983.

Role: External Evaluator

LEADers seeks to empower and equip Hispanic students to become local, regional, and national leaders in the fields of food security and community nutrition. LEADers works to increase recruitment, retention, and training of Hispanic students, contributing to workforce equity in the FANH sciences. LEADers utilizes an innovative model, forming a multilevel learning community within Texas State University's student-led, on-campus food pantry to support experiential learning, near-peer mentoring, and leadership development of Hispanic undergraduates, graduate students, and dietetic interns.

- Effective Communication Strategies During COVID-19

Period: 01/01/21-12/31/22

Funder: T 3: Texas A&M Triads for Transformation

Award Amount: $30,000

Role: Co-PI

This study will focus on how communities respond to social distancing messages and why. It will investigate how individuals respond to social distancing policies implemented at the national and local levels, depending on factors such as race/ethnicity, gender, and social class. In particular, this project will explore the role of community leadership, media sources, frequency, and alignment of messages in determining whether individuals respond positively or negatively to social distancing messages.

- Sé el Héroe (Be the Hero): Education and skill building resources to reduce the infection and transmission of SARS-CoV-2 among migrant and seasonal farmworkers, food service providers, and their communities.

Period: 09/01/20-08/31/22

Funder: USDA NIFA (Sharkey, PI)

Award: 2020-67023-32635 (Proposal 2020-06846)

Award Amount: $1,000,000

Role: Principal Investigator

The long-term goal of Sé el Héroe (Be the Hero) is to reduce the infection and transmission of SARS-CoV-2 among promotores/community health workers (P/CHW), migrant and seasonal farmworkers (MSFW), and food service providers (FSP) in limited resource communities through a promotore-driven extension/outreach program to improve mitigation knowledge, skills, self-efficacy, and behaviors. One intermediate goal supports the long-term goal: educate P/CHW, MSFW, FSP and broader community through much-needed experiential education and skill building. The primary objectives are to: 1) Develop, deploy, evaluate, and disseminate a curriculum, Sé el Héroe (Be the Hero), in response to unique resources, cultural traditions, family practices, and other socio-cultural factors to increase knowledge, skills, self-efficacy, and behaviors of P/CHWs in mitigating infection and transmission of SARS-CoV-2 among MSFW and FSP; and 2) Develop, deploy, evaluate, and disseminate Sé el Héroe (Be the Hero) curriculum and resources to educate and train MSFW and MHFV in preventing spread of SARS-CoV-2 and in mitigating infection and transmission of SARS-CoV-2.

COMPLETED FUNDING

- Salud Para Usted y Su Familia [Health for You and Your Family]:Family-Focused Childhood Obesity Prevention

Period: 2/01/15-1/31/20: NCE 2/01/20-1/31/21

Funder: USDA NIFA (Sharkey, PI)

Award: 2015-68001-23234 (Proposal 2014-08397)

Award Amount: $4,906,530

Role: Principal Investigator

The long-term goal of Salud Para Usted y Su Familia [Health for You and Your Family (SPUSF)] is to reduce the incidence of overweight and obesity among Mexican-heritage children from limited-resource colonias/neighborhoods along the Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas borders with Mexico through a Promotora-led, father-focused, family-centered obesity prevention program that integrates research, education, and extension to target food and beverage consumption and physical activity by changing individual and family behaviors and the home environment in a coordinated manner. The primary objectives are to: 1) use a mixed methods approach to develop, pilot test and refine a culturally- and linguistically-grounded Promotora (a type of community health worker) led curriculum to improve targeted knowledge, attitudes, skills, self-efficacy, and behaviors; 2) evaluate the effectiveness of curriculum in a cluster randomized controlled trial of Mexican-heritage parent-child (ages 9-11 y) triads; 3) use experiential learning and innovative teaching methods to increase the competency of faculty and students; and 4) develop, deliver, and evaluate informal education, in-service training, and community discussions.

- Empowering Rural Communities and Families: Preventing Chronic Disease Through Experiential Nutrition Education

Period: 09/01/17-8/31/19; NCE 9/01/19-8/31/20

Funder: USDA NIFA (Sharkey, PI)

Award: 2017-46100-27193 (Proposal 2014-06185)

Award Amount: $322,000

Role: Principal Investigator

Designated by USDA NIFA as a Center of Excellence

The goals of Empowering Rural Communities and Families (ERCF) are to reduce the risk for nutrition-related chronic diseases in limited resource rural communities through increased consumption of fruits and vegetables (F&V); and deploy, evaluate, and sustain culturally- and socio-economically-responsive, evidence-based approaches that provide much-needed experiential nutrition education to limited-resource children and families in the three regions within rural Clallam County, WA.

- Added Value to Farm-to-Food Bank

Period: 09/01/18-2/29/20

Funder: USDA NIFA (Smith, PI)

Award: 2018- 2018-33800-28944

Award Amount: $35,000 (plus $35,000 match)

Role: Co-Principal Investigator

Our long-term goal is to develop, deploy, and evaluate a shared community strategy that provides much-needed local produce to food banks that serve low-income children, adults, and seniors, and strengthens local farmers and growers in Clallam County, WA. This project utilizes an innovative approach that develops a plan to create a value-added processing program, using gleaned, excess, or produce that does not meet cosmetic and size standards for fresh sale, for the benefit of producers (micro, small, medium, and residential) and food bank clients. With input from food bank clients and discussions with local farmers, the following objectives support our goal: 1) Engage farmers, food bank clients and other producers from throughout Clallam County and conduct a field-to-table scan of needs and assets to enhance environmental, economic, social, and nutritional health; and 2) Evaluate the feasibility of Sequim Food Bank serving as a value added produce hub that aggregates, processes, and distributes excess, gleaned and donated local produce to food bank clients throughout Clallam County.

- Feasibility Study

Period: 2/1/2016-2/28/2017

Agency: Contract, Shipley Center, Sequim, WA

Role: Evaluator

The goal of this project was to conduct a market and economic feasibility study for the development and implementation of a new senior activities center to serve the greater Sequim (WA) area.

- Building a cadre of minority scientists in the area of Childhood obesity prevention: A mentoring initiative

Period: 2016

Funder: USDA NIFA (Murimi [Texas Tech University], PI)

Award Amount: $30,000

Role: Co-PI and Mentor to early-stage minority scholars

The purpose of this mentoring and training program was capacity building among minority group investigators from minority-serving universities and colleges in the fields of childhood obesity prevention.

- Public Health Training Program

Period: 9/01/14-8/31/15

Funder: HRSA (McDonald, PI)

Role: Co-Investigator

This Public Health Training Program focused on workforce needs that included environmental health, epidemiology, biostatistics, and nutrition health promotion.

- PROMOTORAS Program - Increasing Food Security Among Mexican-Origin Seniors in Texas Border Colonias: Promotoras as Agents of Change

Period: 1/1/12-12/31/13

Funder: AARP Foundation; (Sharkey, PI)

Award: HUN-12-2011-003

Award Amount: $268,974

Role: Principal Investigator

The PROMOTORAS – Increasing Food Security among Mexican-origin Seniors in Texas Border Colonias: Promotoras as Agents of Change. The project objectives were to: 1) determine educational and skill needs of Mexican-origin older adults and community promotoras; 2) develop and deliver curricula and instructional materials that provide promotoras with knowledge and skill-building training to improve food security in older adults through tailored education and skill building on food acquisition and preparation using community food resources; and 3) increase the knowledge and skills of Mexican-origin older adults to acquire and prepare healthy and affordable meals using existing resources.

- Understanding Very Low Food Security among Children of Mexican-Origin: the Circumstances and Coping Strategies of Mexican-Origin Families in Texas Border Colonias

Period: 6/16/12-5/19/14

Funder: University of Kentucky Center for Poverty Research; (Sharkey, PI)

Award: 3048108673-12-652

Award Amount: $100,000

Role: Principal Investigator

This project examined very low food security from the perspectives of both the mother and child; and examined differences in very low food security experiences between the school year and summer months. The primary objective was to determine the nature of the relationship between household very low food security as reported by the mother and the child's experience of very low food security.

- The Center for Community Health Development, Prevention Research Center

Period: 9/30/2009-9/29/2014

Agency: CDC; (McLeroy, Center PI)

Role: Principal Investigator and Director, Core Research Program #1

Core Research: "Working with Rural and Underserved Communities to Promote a Healthy Food Environment: Mixed Methods Approach". This project used an innovative sequential mixed method design of geospatial, quantitative, and qualitative methods to support community efforts to improve accessibility and availability of healthy foods.

- Texas Healthy Aging Research Network (TxHAN) Collaborating Center

Period: 9/30/2009-9/29/2014

Agency: CDC/PRC SIP

Award: 1U48DP001924-01; SIP 09-027

Award Amount: $375,000

Role: Principal Investigator

The TxHAN was refunded to continue its membership in the Healthy Aging Research Network (HAN), which is a CDC-funded thematic research and practice network promoting healthy aging research. As a member of the HAN, the TxHAN served a leadership role in network areas of nutrition and environmental assessment.

- Texas Border Nutrition and Obesity Policy Research and Evaluation Network (TxBNOPREN) Collaborating Center

Period: 9/30/2012-9/29/2014

Agency: CDC/PRC SIP

Award: 5U48DP001924-04; SIP 12-062

Award Amount: $140,000

Role: Principal Investigator

In addition to working with the larger Nutrition and Obesity Policy Research and Evaluation Network (NOPREN), members of TxBNOPREN worked with Texas border colonias to gain insight and feedback on aspects of policy change that seek to influence children's access to healthy foods and beverages. Our policy research project, which used a mixed-methods approach, involved leveraging activities around existing work in access, availability, and affordability of foods and beverages to examine point-of-decision communication for healthier and less-healthy foods, beverages, and carryout foods in traditional, convenience, and non-traditional retail food sources that market to low-income Mexican-origin children and families in Texas border colonias.

- Improving Community Health in Progreso, TX (IHP)

Period: 3/15/13-9/29/2014

Agency: CDC and REACH Su Comunidad

Award: 1U58DP004710; subaward

Sub Award Amount: $222,155

Role: Principal Investigator

ICHP focused on proper nutrition and physical activity to improve the health of Progreso area individuals, families, colonias, businesses, and schools. ICHP collaboration used community-based, participatory approaches to identify, develop, and disseminate effective strategies for improving community health through nutrition and physical activity.

- Physical Activity of Mexican-Origin Mothers and Children in Forgotten Border Colonias: A Community-Based Participatory Approach to Understanding the Landscape

Period: 6/1/13-5/31/2014

Agency: Subcontract to Baylor University

Award: 30310130

Award Amount: $18,000

Role: Principal Investigator of Subcontract

This study (1) examined and described the behavioral, environmental, and political contexts of physical activity for families residing in colonias in south Texas and (2) used community-based participatory research principals to identify community physical activity needs and priorities for south Texas colonias children and families.

- Influence of Mobile Food vendors on food and beverage choices of low-income Mexican American children in Texas colonias

Period: 11/01/2009-10/31/2011

Agency: Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, Healthy Eating Research Program

Award: #66969

Award Amount: $111,098

Role: Principal Investigator

The aim of this study was to assess the neighborhood and household food environments, current food and beverage marketing and purchase strategies for after-school and weekend consumption, as well as seasonal patterns, and current family food behaviors, in a sample of Mexican American dyads (mother-child) in Texas colonias.

- The Program for Rural and Minority Health Disparities Research

Period: 9/30/2007-5/31/2012

Agency: NIH-NCMHD; 1P20MD002295-01 (McLeroy, Program PI)

Award: 5P20MD002295-02

Award Amount: $6,731,778

Role: Co-Investigator and Principal Investigator, 5-Year Project #1

“Behavioral and Environmental Influence on Obesity: Rural Context & Race/Ethnicity”

The major objective of this descriptive study (Rural Food Choice) was to examine the interplay of behavioral (individual and family) and environmental (home, social, and neighborhood/community) factors, food choice, and healthful eating in African American, Hispanic, and non-Hispanic White families of rural Central Texas.

- Texas Nutrition and Obesity Policy Research and Evaluation Network (TxNOPREN) Collaborating Center

Period: 9/30/2009-9/29/2012

Agency: CDC/PRC SIP

Award: 1U48DP001924-01; SIP 09-006

Award Amount: $180,000

Role: Principal Investigator

TxNOPREN actively engaged in activities with the larger NOPREN, to respond to issues related to the identification of policies that affect improved access and availability of healthy foods; identification of determinants of policy adoption throughout the food system; research on policy implementation in rural and deprived areas; and direct and indirect outcomes of policy implementation. In addition to working with the larger NOPREN, members of TxNOPREN worked with rural communities within Central Texas and colonias in South Texas to gain insight and feedback on aspects of policy change that seek to influence children's access to healthy foods.

- Nitrates, Nitrites, and Nitrosatable Drugs and Risk of Selected Birth Defects

Period: 7/27/2007-6/30/2011

Agency: NIH/NIEHS; 1R01ES015634-01 (Brender, PI)

Award: #1R01ES015634

Award Amount: $1,400,117

Role: Co-Investigator

This case-control study examined the separate and joint effects of prenatal exposures to nitrates, nitrites, and nitrosatable drugs on risk of selected congenital malformations (neural tube defects, limb malformations, oral clefts, and heart defects). Cases and controls were obtained from the National Birth Defects Prevention Study (NBDPS), a multi-center study that covers populations in 10 different states.

- Nitrates, Nitrites, and Nitrosatable Drugs and Risk of Selected Birth Defects

Period: 9/06/2009-6/30/2011

Agency: NIH/NIEHS; 3R01ES015634-03SI (Brender, PI)

Award: #3R01ES015634

Award Amount: $281,342

Role: Co-Investigator

This administrative supplement had two objectives that are related to the specific aims of the parent grant. The first objective was to estimate intake of nitrate among Texas and Iowa National Birth Defects Prevention Study (NBDPS) participants who reported drinking bottled water exclusively. The second objective was to improve and accelerate data analyses and interpretation of the parent project by adding biostatistical expertise, especially in the area of Bayesian statistics.

- The Influence of Community Retail Food Environment on Household Food Access, Food Choice, and Dietary Intake of Mexican American Children in Colonias along the South Texas Border with Mexico

Period: 9/1/2010-12/31/2011

Agency: USDA RIDGE Program, Southern Rural Development Center; #018000-321470-02

Award: 018000-321470-02

Award Amount: $34,970

Role: Principal Investigator

The overall goal of this study was to examine complex, place-based factors that may either enable or constrain Mexican American children from achieving good nutritional health.

- Texas Healthy Aging Research Network (TxHAN)

Period: 9/30/2004-9/29/2009

Agency: CDC/PRC SIP; 3-U48-DP-000045-01SI

Role: Principal Investigator

The TxHAN was a member center of a CDC-funded thematic research and practice network promoting healthy aging research. Our specific mission was to establish a network of community, health, and aging services organizations in our local seven-county region (Brazos Valley) as well as the Lower Rio Grande Valley and across Texas to conduct community participatory research around aging-related prevention issues.

- Prevention Research to Promote and Protect Brain Health

Period: 9/30/2007-9/29/2009

Agency: CDC/Subcontract University of South Carolina

Role: Principal Investigator

This project continued Years 2-3 activities of CDC SIP to continue targeted tasks for Brain Health Initiative.

- Piloting Mixed Methods Approach to Understand Decision-making in Marketing Food to Colonia Families by Mobile Vendors

Period: 10/23/2008-5/31/2009

Agency: Mexican American and U.S. Latino Research Center

Role: Principal Investigator

This pilot project developed and pilot tested the protocol for an innovative mixed-methods approach that focuses on the role of mobile food vendors in providing colonia families with greater access to high calorie, ready-to-eat foods.

- Understanding Nutrition Challenges Faced by Older Americans in Rural Areas: Role of the Food Environment and Neighborhood Characteristics

Period: 10/1/2007-12/31/2008

Agency: USDA RIDGE Program, Southern Rural Development Center; #018000-321104-03

Role: Principal Investigator

This project identified and assessed the quality of the food environment by neighborhood (census block group) and county in the six rural counties of the Brazos Valley, including access, availability, and affordability of healthy food products; and evaluated how neighborhood characteristics, measures of accessibility to food stores, and variety and cost of food items influenced healthy eating among 643 older adults who completed the 2006 BVHS.

- Building Community Capacity for Population Health Improvement in Colonias Using a Community Health Development Approach

Period: 12/1/2005-8/31/2007

Agency: Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (Burdine, PI)

Role: Co-Investigator

This project attempted to increase access to medical care and health and human services among colonia residents along the U.S./Mexico border, largely through the use of community health workers or promotores providing outreach, health education, case management, and community development functions.

- Prevention Research Center

Period: 9/1/2004-8/31/2007

Agency: CDC, #1-U48-DP-000045-01; (McLeroy, PI)

Role: Co-Investigator, Core Research Project

This project examined dissemination of Diabetes Self-Management programs in rural Brazos Valley.

- Piloting an Innovative and Complicated Form of Participant-Observations to Increase Understanding of Food and Activity Decision-making in Colonia Families

Period: 10/15/2006-3/15/2007

Agency: Mexican American and U.S. Latino Research Center

Role: Principal Investigator

This proof-of-concept project built on current work that examined the geospatial distribution of food stores and food service places in areas of Hidalgo County with colonias; and utilized promotoras as part of the research team that piloted this innovative and complicated form of participant observation – having researchers embedded with colonia families to follow their eating and activities.

- Food Environment Quality and Food Choice in Clusters of Colonias in Hidalgo County of the Texas Rio Grande

Period: 10/1/2005-12/31/2006

Agency: USDA RIDGE Program, SRDC #018000 320979-05

Role: Principal Investigator

This development project documented the factors that may be most critical in affecting food choices made by low-income individuals or households in an area of persistent poverty in Texas Rio Grande colonias in Hidalgo County. We used state-of-the-art Geographic Information System (GIS) technology to 1) determine the geospatial food environment characteristics of census block groups in Hidalgo County that included at least one colonia; and 2) characterized address-specific food environment for children and adults residing in three clusters of colonias.

- Measurement of Community-Level Indicators of the Food Environment in Rural Areas

Period: 5/1/2005-4/30/2006

Agency: NIH/NIEHS Center for Environmental and Rural Health, P30ES09106

Role: Principal Investigator

This pilot study used state-of-the-art Global Positioning System (GPS) and Geographic Information Systems (GIS) technology and tablet PC-based in-store food audits to: 1) determine the geospatial characteristics of Census tracts in the six rural Brazos Valley counties; 2) characterize address-specific food environment (i.e., food quality, variety, and cost in local food stores and food service places) for 425 older adults residing in two rural counties; and 3) obtain pilot data needed for submitting a larger grant to NIH or CDC.

- Improving Self-Care Practice among Homebound Elders with Type 2 Diabetes

Period: 9/1/2003-8/31/2005

Agency: NIH/NIEHS, Center for Environmental and Rural Health #P30ES09106

Role: Principal Investigator

This pilot research project used qualitative research methods (in-depth interviews and focus groups) to develop strategies for providers of nutrition services to older adults to help African American, Mexican American, and white homebound older adults overcome environmental barriers to improve Type 2 Diabetes self-care practices.

- Medication Use, Dietary Intake, and Functional Outcomes Among Homebound Elders

Period: 1/1/2003-6/1/2004

Agency: Health Services Research Program, SRPH

Role: Principal Investigator

This research project focused on therapeutic medication classes and subclasses, dietary intake, functional limitations, and disability.

- Implementation of Nutrition Requirements Under Reauthorization of Older Americans Act

Period: 3/1/2003-10/1/2003

Agency: Contract, Texas Department of Aging and Disability Services

Role: Principal Investigator

The goal of this project was to develop the protocol for implementation of the Dietary Reference Intake recommendations into Older Americans Act-funded nutrition programs.

GRADUATE-LEVEL TEACHING

Course Development

- HPCH 637, Principles of Health Program Management
  - This course was developed to provide graduate students with knowledge and skills to assume a role in the management of health promotion programs. The course covers management theory, leadership, organizational assessment, planning, decision-making, organizational structure, budgeting, marketing, and human resource management.
- PHSB 612, Public Health Interventions
  - This course was developed to introduce MPH/MSPH students to social and behavioral interventions.

- PHSB 605, Social and Behavioral Research Methods
  - This course was developed to provide MPH/MSPH students with an in-depth introduction to a variety of quantitative and qualitative research methods that are used by researchers and public health professionals to explore complex public health issues.
- HPCH 613, Program Evaluation
  - This MPH/MSPH course was developed to focus on introducing public health graduate students to a variety of quantitative and qualitative methods used in the development and evaluation of complicated and complex public health programs in diverse settings.
- PHSB 689, Nutrition, Aging and Function
  - This course was developed as a graduate seminar to explore the complex public health issues associated with the interrelationships of older age, nutritional health, chronic conditions, and independent functioning.
- HPCH 689, Qualitative Research Methods
  - This course provides an experiential introduction to qualitative methods used by researchers and program evaluators, advantages and limitations of different methods, mechanisms for gathering data in a community setting, techniques for managing and analyzing data, and strategies for presenting information to the scientific community, community members, and funders.
- HPCH 673, Doctoral-level Program Evaluation
  - This doctoral course was developed to focus on advanced research study and design approaches to evaluation of multi-level programs.
