

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

School of Public Health

Begin your career in health care with the Master of Health Administration degree from Texas A&M University

The Texas A&M University Master of Health Administration (MHA) Program provides the knowledge and skills necessary to become leaders in health administration.

Hands-On Experience

All MHA Program students complete a full-time summer practicum to gain valuable real-world experience in health care organizations. Practicum locations can be in Texas, across the United States, or abroad.

Rewarding

20% growth in health administration employment over the next 10 years, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Successful administrators are analytic, detail-oriented, and personable with strong communication, technical and leadership skills.

Flexible

Students can complete the 55 credit-hour curriculum by beginning the MHA Program in either January or August.

Placement Success

Over 92% of Texas A&M University MHA Program graduates are placed in administrative fellowships or entry-level health administration positions (such as financial analyst, project manager, or consultant) within 90 days after graduation.

Our MHA Program has over 375 Alumni, working in all aspects of health care delivery in Texas and around the United States.

Graduates from the MHA Program work in leading health care organizations in Texas and around the United States, including Kelsey Seybold (Houston), Protiviti (Dallas), the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center (Pennsylvania), Memorial Hermann (Houston), and Houston Methodist.

The MHA Program assures quality education through its professional accreditations and memberships.

Commitment

The mission of the Texas A&M University MHA Program is to provide exceptional early to mid level careerists with a strong foundation to become leaders dedicated to improving health care services for all populations.

The Aggie Advantage

Over 500,000 students have graduated from Texas A&M University since its founding in 1876, and have created one of the nation's strongest and most loyal Alumni networks, The Association of Former Students.

Faculty

Courses are led by well-qualified experts committed to the MHA Program's mission. Faculty include full-time professors from the Texas A&M University School of Public Health and other exceptional health care leaders with significant industry expertise.

Application Requirements

- Official transcripts
- Prerequisite undergraduate courses in Managerial Accounting (or Finance), Economics, and Statistics
- Three letters of recommendation
- Personal statement
- Current résumé
- GRE or GMAT
- Interview with MHA Program faculty

To Learn More Contact

Monica Garner
(979) 436-9483
magarner@tamu.edu
tx.ag/sphmha

